Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Liberty Magazine in the current issue has an article on the rise and fall of Akron, the rubber capital of the world The rise was due to high wages and demand for tires. At one time Akron made 69 per cent of the world's tires, this was early in 1936. The rubber industries were paying from 87 cents to $1.11 per hour for 32.4 hours work per week. Some of the workmen purchased and lived in $15,000 homes. Radios, household electric appliances, and automobiles were universally owned and enjoyed. The rubber industries employed 75,000 workers.

On this city John L. Lewis cast a covetous eye. Akron was unionized, but they were generally independent unions who paid no tribute to labor racketeers or bosses. Lewis moved into Akron early in 1936. As the need arose he imported up to 3,000 organizers. For nearly two years there was constant bloodshed, fighting, sabotage, a large number of killings, sit-down strikes. Leaders in this CIO invasion were usually communists. They believed in clearing the ground for a new governmental structure and they partially succeeded.

Instead of 75,000 workmen employed in Akron there are today 25,000 and these are cowed and intimidated. Firestone and Goodyear plants have been mostly dismantled and moved elsewhere. Gadsen, Alabama, has won a large slice of Akron's rubber industry. The industry has been decentalilized, and the plants have been moved to cities where stockholders are assured police authorities and public sentiment will protect them against CIO destruction. Real estate values in Akron have declined 50 per cent.

San Franciscans should see moving pictures of Akron before and after CIO. In fact today San Francisco in many respects could provide a very striking picture of before and after Harry Bridges. The over-ocean commerce of that great port has dropped approximately 50 per cent. San Francisco suffers not only from the CIO, however, but is also the victim of being in midde of an AF of L versus CIO battle ground. At Gettsyburg they can still point to ruins of buildings that happened to be focal points in the battle between Confederate and Union soldiers. San Francisco is becoming that kind of a monument.

For some months the people throughout California have been unable to purchase certain supplies. Commercial printers for instance cannot get adequate paper supplies because warehouses have been closed by Harry Bridges. Department stores find it impossible to renew stocks from goods on which Harry Bridges has hung a padlock. Interunion warfare and CIO invasion of San Franfrancisco have resulted in an exodus of population from that city. Huge apartment houses in districts some distance away from the business centers stand vacant.

These warring unions and communistic CIO battalionas have given the public no recourse except that of amending the laws so as to meet new situations with statutes that can put a curb on their activities. We have a proposed statute to be voted on in November which will

1 Guarantee the principle of collective bargaining the right of employees to strike.

2 Insure to employees the right to organize, free from coercion from any source.

3 Guarantee to all, freedom of the highways, streets and public docks, and other public places for the movement of all commodities.

4 Regulate picketing and limit pickets to bona fide employees engaged in a dispute involving hours, wages and working conditions.

5 Confine boycotts to those directed against an employer by bona fide employes.

6 Prohibit coercion and intimidation exercised upon employees, employers and the public.

7 Prohibits and declares unlawful, sit-down strikes.

Here is a law that every person who has been injured by the strife and sabotage incident to warring labor factions, labor racketeering, communistic destruction, occupation of private premises by tresspassers acting under the banner of labor organization, can vote for and feel that he is using legitimate methods to stop what amounts to guerilla warfare upon all tax payers and the peaceful citizens.

The title of this proposed law is "Employment Relations Initiative." We suggest it is far better to vote for such a measure and place it on the statute books, than to have recourse to community uprising against CIO invaders as has been done in New Jersey and Louisiana.

Fire Dispatcher E. M. Stone of the Tahoe National Forest, has had two fires over the week end. A smoker fire, in the Gold Lake area three miles above Bassetts on Sunday, burned over about 13 acres before being extinguished. Two CCC crews from Downieville spike camp were called.

At five o'clock this morning a call came in of a fire on the ridge between Euer and Carpenter Valleys eight miles northwest of Truckee. This was a small fire and was put out in short order.

Cases not heard but coming up shortly are:

Charles E. Prentiss, San Jose no fire permit, will come before Judge V. V. Schroeder. Joe Moon, of Loomis, leaving camp fire, will come before Judge Schroder today.

Officer J. D. Rafferty found two little fawns, one killed and the other in a dying condition in the Truckee area. One was killed outright but the other had the forelegs shot off. IDAHO-MARYLAND MINES

The new addition has been completed at the New Brunswick dry house and this will give more space for the company to employ more men. The new electric cap lamps have been in service a week in the dry houses. About 12 young graduates from the local high schools were employed during the vacation period and this group has left and entered schools with considerable money for their expenses for the school term. This company inaugurated surface employment for young boys in order to enable them to earn part of their expense money, about two years ago and it is proving a help to the boys. The payroll at the mine is considerably more than last time and is as follows: Idaho-Maryland, underground 276; surface, 159; mill 31; New Brunswick mine, underground, 191; surface 35; mill 13. There are 51 employed as supervisors, engineers and office employes.

MINERS TO PLAY COLTS

The Chico Colts defeated the Grass Valley Miners, 12 to 11 yesterday, to take the lead in the three game series for the championship of the Sacramento Valley League. The game was played at Chico and many sports enthusiasts from Nevada City and Grass Valley motored to that city to attend the game.

The Colts tallied five runs in the ninth inning to win the game. The Miners held a four run lead throughout the major portion of the contest. The two teams will tangle next Sunday at Watt Park in Grass Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. N. Johnson, both great flower lovers, have a gorgeous display of dahlia blossoms in the Harris Drug Store windows today, attracting much attention.

RED CROSS TO SUCCOR SPAIN'S STARVED PEOPLE

Frank Finnegan, president, and Mrs. Belle Douglass, secretary of the Nevada City Red Cross Unit, have received from the San Francisco office the following communication:

We are happy to advise you that the American Red Cross with the cooperation of the government and other agencies is preparing to send apprximately 60,000 barrels of flour to Spain for distribution among the civilian population of that coountry. Official aadvices received through the U. S. State Department indicate that three million people in Spain, chiefly women and children, are facing starvation this winter.

The flour will be processed from 250,000 bushels of wheat made available by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. The Red Cross will pay for the milling and transportation of the flour to United States seaports. The U. S. Maritime Commission will provide free transportation to French ports, where the flour will be delivered to the American Friends Service Committee, which will act for the American Red Cross in distributing the flour in Spain. The flour will be distributed to needy civilians in both Loyalist and Nationalist sections of Spain.

Chairman Davis states. "This plan enables all Americans to take part in a gesture of good will toward a civilian population undergoing intense suffering."

The wheat is part of a surplus which is now being purchased from American farmers. This cooperative effort makes possible a large measure of relief at a cost which does not place too great a burden upon the resources of the Red Cross.

It is suggested that you give the widest possible local publicity to this information so that the people of your chapter jurisdiction will have full knowledge of this fine cooperative effort on behalf of the needy civilians of Spain.

Very truly yours.

A. L. SCHAFER.

MISSED NEVADA CITY BUT MADE THE SUMMIT

A good joke has come to light in the kindly intentions of Roy Miller showing his friends, Knight McBride new clerk at the Cardinal store and a stranger in the district, something of the country. A trip was made to Colfax Saturday evening and Miller became sleepy and asked his friend to drive the car. Starting eastward the strange road seemed alright to McBride who continued to drive for miles and miles. Miller aroused in time to realize they were on Donner Summit instead of in Nevada City.

WAR CRISIS HITS STOCK MARKET

By JOHN CRADDOCK

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. — BUSINESS—The war crisis overshadowed all else in the world of business last week. Stock markets here and in Europe gyrated widely as recurring waves of optimistic and pessimistic news emanated from Germany, Czechoslovakia, France and England. Prices of wheat, corn, copper and other commodities that would be vital in war rose briskly early in the week. Europeans scrambled to ship gold to America for safe keeping. Meanwhile, in this country there was little evidence that scare headlines were hindering the forward progress of business. Operations in the steel industry continued to expand and retail trade reflected increased spending. Reports from machine tool manufacturers that their orders increased 35 per cent in August from July were most encouraging. For it is an indication that sufficient faith in the future is developing among American business men for them to start investing money in neey industrial equipment.

WASHINGTON—Long range planners here are studying the possible effects on established industries and agriculture of hydroponics, a revolutionary method of growing food plants. This method utilizes troughs or vats filled with water and chemicals to take the place of the "good earth" in growing crops. It is said that a few square feet of such troughs is sufficient to supply the average famiy with vegetables. A number of scientifically minded individuals around the country are actually growing their own tomatoes, cucumbers, beans and peas now by this chemical process. Though it is still too expensive and too scientific for the average person to undertake the day may not be far distant when hydroponics will be such a popular backyard or basement avocation as to make a serious dent in some markets now being supplied by farmers. And should hydroponics ever become adaptable to raising grain crops on a commercial scale, the farm implement industry might be faced with slackening in demand for plowing, plating, cultivating and harvesting machinery. In such an event, however, new avenues for business and employment undoubtely would be opened i the chemical and metal industries.

ANOTHER MAN GETS BEATING IN TRUCKEE

Alben March of San Leandro, 28 years old. arrived in Truckee Wednesday, went to work with the cement crew on the Boca dam with the permission of the CIO outfit there, received a "clearance" from the union secretary entitling him to meals and room in Truckee. He went to work on night shift Thursday, and on Friday morning went to breakfast at the Saddle Rock, according to his story. At 10:30 o'clock he finished eating was accused by some one in the restaurant of being a "moocher". He took a terfific beating, feeling that if he didn't take it, he would be killed in the street outside. The CIO secretary, who gave him his "clearance" according to March, repudiated the clearance after the affair. A highway patrolman brought him to the Nevada County hospital here, where he has been slowly recuperating since. This afternoon, Sheriff Tobiassen and Undersheriff Wood went to Truckee to investigate the slugging.

A Measure For Peace

In a sweeping drive to bring peace in labor warfare, and insure job security by reducing work stoppage, committees in fifty of California's fifty-eight counties are now functioning in cooperation with the California Commttee for Peace in Employment Relations, which is sponsoring Proposition No. 1, the labor relations initiative on the November ballot, Senator Sanborn Young, chairman of the State committee has announced.

Committees are now being organized in the remaining eight counties, Senator Young said, and a State-wide educational campaign to inform the public how it can safeguard its economic future against labor disturbances by voting for the labor initiative will be "full speed ahead" until Noverber 8.

"With labor warfare stifling business and interrupting the flow of trade, public-minded citizens throughout California have become thoroughly aroused as to the danger of the situation, Senator Young declared.

"We feel that if labor and industry cannot put their houses in order, then the people will, for their welfare is the public's concern.

"The labor relations initiative, on the ballot as Proposition No. 1, is aimed to protect the public from labor warfare, guard the worker against labor racketeeers, and correct such labor abuses as sit-down strikes, secondary picketing, boycoting and 'hot cargo' practices.

"It proposes that all should recognize labor's right to bargain collectively; that labor and employer shall recognize the community's right to freedom from needless quarreling and violence, and that the privileges and obligations of all parties be set forth and upheld by State law."—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about demogogues
And demogogic speeches,
I hear deep rumbling undertones
And shrill, hysteric screeches;
I hear the throb of party drums,
I watch the banner toters,
And then I sadly take my stand
With other puzzled voters.

I wonder for whom and for what I shall vote when that decisive November day stalks commandingly over the western hills; it's a serious responsibility, this privilege of the franchise—how may one prepare to use it wisely and well?

Of course the American voter studies his problems with an open mind, disdains prejudice and keeps the lamp of wisdom trimmed and burning. He listens attentively and respectfully to arguments for and against his favorite measures and candidates, and weighs the evidence with calm, judicial consideration; he feels that every man has a right to tell his story, and that in a civiliation which has grown and is still growing by the processes of trial and error, no one political faith can be infallibly right or wholly wrong; therefore, he allows a slight shadow of doubt to fall upon his own rock ribbed theories and searches for gems of wisdom in the thoughts and plans of others.

Yes, the American voter is truly a remarkable person; he thinks for himself; is not swept away by fantastic terms of ideology or emotional appeal, he analyzes opposing political concepts with rare impartiality, goes to the polls early and stamps his ballot with a clear conception of what he is doing—and why. Have I been dreaming? I've never met great numbers of voters who measured up to this standard—I don't myself.

I wonder why Herr Hitler's latest burst of oratory was ever regarded as mere "sound and fury, signifying nothing;" it would seem that the arrogant dictator used his words with most telling effect; he boasted to the world of his incomparable military brawn, lashed his followers into a frenzy of nationalism, but a breath removed from war madness and with irritating effect provoked those overt acts in harassed Czechoslovakia which provided him with excuses for entering in and taking over the land. It was a great speech—there were so many words, uttered with great strength and energy; but within the sound of such orations—let no dove coo.

There was a turbulent river that boasted arrogantly as it surged toward the sea. It carved fantastic shapes of terror along its ancient borders; it uprooted many precious, living things and swept them away on its mad, onrushing tides.

"I am invincible!" it thundered, and as the ominous challenge reverberated throughout the land, distant fields and forests were troubled, tall trees shuddered and happy birds forgot their singing.

"I am invincible! Nothing can impede my progress—nothing can change the course of my proud destiny."

Time passed and at length forces with which the river had not reckoned, ripped jagged gateways in its granite walls and led it captive to a waiting city where it was compelled to turn the wheels of industry, and minister humbly in one and a thousand ways to the well being and happiness of mankind.

Such has been the fate of many a river that boasted arrogantly as it surged toward the sea.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

WE VOICE OUR GRATITUDE. Really, we believe we are tremendously blessed by the gods that be. And why? On account of because we are so rich in friends We think it is seldom that one has the good fortune to possess so many charming and delightful friends, and we rejoice at our good fortune. When we say friends, we mean just that. Friendship is such a precious thing to us, it is just all that is finest in those people we like. Small courtesies and considerations, complete freedom of expressed opinion, an understanding and profound respect for the other guy, and a mental stimulus that is beyond price. Yes indeedy, in our humble opinion the value of true friendship is inestimable. From this you will gather, we have a lovely week end.

PERSONALITIES. A. Schulter, the new supervisor for Old Home, in this territory in particular, and ten other routes besides! We shall miss him, now that he is off the truck, 'cause of all the gentleman drivers we ever knew, he is the "gentlemanest" which is something in these days of rush and scramble and discourteous driving. Hal Davis, STILL wagging a finger of dissention in our direction, on account of our review of Voodoo Fires. Now mind you, we have our opinion, BUT we have a slithering suspicion that after all he is right!

A BOOK YOU MUST NOT MISS. "The Arts of Leisure" by Marjorie Greenbie—it is too, too, and just full of exactly what you are looking for.

DID any of you see This World section of the San Francisco Chronicle, page 28 of the September 4 issue? Under the heading Around the Galleries there is a marvelous article by Gatherine Caldwell about Albert Bender, and also a very fine photograph of this famous art patron. For those of you who are interested in art, (in all its phases), and especially West Coast art and the younger painters and poets, we recommend this article to your attention.

AND while we are on the subject of books and articles and sich, we would like to draw your attention to a pictorial magazine called "Italia". It is printed in Italy but is easily obtainable at news stands here. The photographs and reproductions are simply beautiful, and the whole magazine is splendidly arranged—more interesting still comments and captions are printed in four languages, Italian, German, French and English—now here is a terrific chance for you linguists to keep brushed up.

WELL, the wind is blowing and time is flying and we are late AS USUAL—so we better dash off and take a look at the gleam in the Editors eye.

Cheerio family—and cheerio every body.

P. S. WE are terribly sad, and we wish we were Ferdinand the Bull, because something has happened to our nose, and we CAN'T smell all the pretty flowers.

FRANK TRUMBAR AND ORCHESTRA COMING SEPT. 23

Frank Trumbar, who with his band of 15 will play a dance engagement at the Legion Hall Friday evening September 23, is considered by eminent critics to be one of the worlds best saxophonists. He was seven years with Paul Whiteman. Sax soloist with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra, and also several symphony ocrhestras in the east.

For six months Frank and his orchestra has been at the famous Biltmore bowl in Los Angeles.

This same orchestra broadctsts every night on NBC and Mr. Kach was fortunate enough to get them because there was one open date. So it is that this wonderful attraction can be presented to the dance lovers of this section.

With Frank and his orchestra as entertainers come Vonnie King, Jo Hopkins and Johnnie Hamilton, which in itself is a deluxe and big edition of entertainment.

This engagement to play in Grass Valley can be considered a real outstanding event.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Larabee had as guests the past week end Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Mulroy of the Yuba River Mines, and Lee Rhoades of Santa Barbara.

ARCTIC MINE

L. F. Utter of southern California and one of the principal owners, remains at the Arctic mine. A small crew is doing development work until water rises in the fall when active operations will start again.

A Letter to You

Dear Californians:

We want you to know why we oppose the single tax, proposition No. 20 on the November ballot, and why we believe you too will want to vote NO.

It will not raise the funds to keep our schools open, provide aid for the needy or for the aged. Chaos in business, agriculture and government will result.

Sincerely yours,
